

Data Discovery, Governance & Compliance

DocAuthority automatically catalogues unstructured files and documents to define what data you have, what it contains, where it resides and who has access to it. DocAuthority customers significantly reduce their costs and risk by managing and protecting their data efficiently and effectively.

DocAuthority can manage most business data in commonly used enterprise platforms (File Shares, SharePoint, OneDrive etc).

Information discovery

DocAuthority is quick and easy to deploy with a single server deployment option for evaluations or small production implementations. Most DocAuthority customers opt for an on premise deployment which facilitates co-location of DocAuthority infrastructure with your business data.

However, DocAuthority has a flexible deployment model and cloud or hybrid deployments are supported too. Using technology, DocAuthority automates the discovery, ingestion and cataloguing of files and documents which enables:

- 🔍 Clear line of sight to sensitive files and documents which are not adequately safeguarded
- 🔍 Effective and efficient identification of regulated or commercially sensitive data
- 🔍 Identification of redundant, obsolete and trivial data enabling substantial storage savings quickly and easily

Categorisation and Classification

Our solution works by automatically discovering and categorising data into an inventory list of business information assets. This enables business users to classify these assets efficiently and accurately.

The language agnostic, low set-up effort solution requires no 'system training' or 'learning' and immediately returns high value 'actionable' detail about the sensitive and valuable information assets within your organisation.

Whether your objective is accelerating compliance maturity, maintaining regulatory standards or maximising the effectiveness of existing security technologies such as data leakage prevention (DLP), our technology will enable your organisation to discover, classify and manage sensitive information assets by applying effective policy, without impacting normal business operations.

Key Benefits & Value

Providing the foundation for sustained compliance

Identifying data for which you no longer have a lawful basis to process. Understanding the business processes which generate, publish and store sensitive data. Safeguarding sensitive data from unauthorised usage. Ensuring that the personal data you hold is only used for the purposes for which it is intended.

Whichever territory you operate in and whatever regulatory frameworks you are required to abide by, DocAuthority can dramatically save time and improve quality.

With a strong offering to information security practitioners, information risk professionals as well as CIO / CDO budget holders, DocAuthority is positioned well to support your businesses data governance programme.

Business Benefits

DocAuthority is typically installed and configured in around a day with minimal setup and configuration. Implementations focus on ensuring that tangible benefits and savings are delivered early in any implementation. DocAuthority puts your business objectives first, but if it's storage and cost savings you want to focus on, you can often recoup a good part of any investment in DocAuthority in the first 12 months.

DocAuthority can also help with migrations speeding up your migration to cloud or a document management system. As part of any migration, DocAuthority can ensure you only take the data that matters reducing both time and cost.

Try before you buy

Not quite sure how to take the first steps in your information governance journey? DocAuthority run end - to - end try before you buy engagements. We'll scan 500K of your files and write you an assessment report based on what you're trying to achieve.

Information Risk Management

Not sure what you have, where it is or who has access to it? As well as the risk of regulatory enforcement, insider threat or human error can sustainably increase the risk of a data breach.

DocAuthority will automatically discover and collate business documents into functional categories. In practice, this means that performance reviews, medical details, personal information or sensitive commercial documents are easily identified. Once DocAuthority has done this, managing, classifying and securing sensitive data is quick and easy to do.

About Us

Organizations protect the sensitive documents they are aware of, but out-of-sight documents are left unprotected.

DocAuthority solves this by automatically discovering and accurately identifying unprotected sensitive documents, thus enabling a broad yet business friendly security policy.
