

Reduce the cost & overhead of Subject Rights Requests with DocAuthority

Did you know the average cost to the business of a subject rights request (SRR) is £4800¹? It doesn't take many SRRs for this to add up to an appreciable cost to the business. Putting in place mechanisms to mitigate these costs is a sensible part of any overall investment in information governance and tooling.

DocAuthority will quickly and easily identify and retrieve all documents and emails relevant to a subject rights request.

An increasing regulatory workload

The proportion of the world's population which has its data covered under modern privacy laws is growing rapidly. Whether it's GDPR, POPIA, CCPA or any other regulation, you can be confident that individuals will have the rights to make requests of those who store and process their data. Along with this, events such as Covid-19 can create spikes in the volume of SRRs which businesses receive.

Insufficient fulfilment of data subject rights is a clear focus of regulatory enforcement by European Union Data Protection Agencies. DocAuthority mitigates the cost and risk of non-compliance.

Pre-index all your data so discovery is quick and easy

Powerful and intuitive search, reporting and collation tools

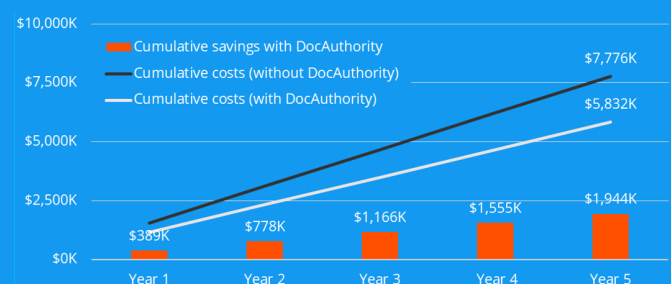

Non-expert employees in your business can perform the work

The difficult made easy

The DocAuthority platform can be deployed on a single server in a couple of hours for small deployments or evaluations. DocAuthority will ingest and index all your files and documents so that when you need to find all the files and documents corresponding to an individual or containing their personal data, it's a very quick and easy job.

The model below uses figures from the DPO survey results referenced above. They track the potential savings to a business using DocAuthority to help mitigate the costs of SRRs. A reduction in the cost of an SRR of 25% has been used.

Key Benefits & Value

Why should you focus on subject rights requests?

Because of the requirement to respond to SRRs within 30 days, there simply may not be the time to implement an data indexing tool by the time volumes of requests become problematic. You may face both rapidly increasing costs but also growing issues in responding in an appropriate time-frame particularly if you are experience higher than expected volumes of requests.

Furthermore, the accountability principle of GDPR requires that not only must you comply with GDPR, you must be able to demonstrate your compliance and have put in place suitable technical and organisational measures to meet the requirements of accountability.

Has your business taken adequate organisational and technical steps to meet its compliance requirements?
